Alan Gaumer, trumpeter, percussionist, whistler & vocalist, has been performing all over the world for more than three decades. While residing in Italy, he traveled to almost every country in Europe (before and after the collapse of communism) several countries in Africa and Asia and later twice toured South America. Alan is currently artist/lecturer at Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa. In addition to his collaboration with Bobby, he currently performs with Co-op Bop, P.F. & the Flyers, and in duo (Body & Soul) with his partner in life, Robin Bryan. He has been the recipient of a Pa. Council on the Arts Jazz Composition Fellowship, a Meet the Composer grant and is a listed artist in Young Audiences presenting his "What is Jazz?" Program in schools. Visit web site for more: www.cop-opbop.com

Alan Gaumer & Pete Fluck have been performing together since the 1970's. Their style of "funky Fusion" actually pre-dates the actual terms that have since become fashionable. After a period of not playing together and "fans" asking, "when are you gonna play again?", Well,the music is making the statements now.

Watch for P.F. & the Flyers

Pete Fluck, saxophonist & harmonicist extraordinaire, has been entertaining audiences throughout Eastern Pa, New Jersey, N.Y. City and Philadelphia for over 4 decades. His soulful sound while paying homage to many of the re-knowned masters, claims unique signature qualities. From hard charging "Pick Up the Pieces" to soulful "Naima", and everything in between. Pete also performs with the very popular group "Zen fo Primates" He is also currently designing saxophones under his own company name the "FLIER" with several well known endorsers. (see web site: _____).
